

Administration Approves WSCGA Car Regulation

Sophomores, Juniors And Seniors Allowed To Ride In Automobiles

By Jody Felix

Faculty and administration approval of the car-riding regulation proposed by the WSCGA last spring was announced by Shirley Sprague, WSCGA president, at a meeting of the association last night.

The WSCGA resolution, with a few minor changes, was approved by the faculty advisors of the Judicial Committee and a committee of administration officers consisting of J. Wilfred Lambert, dean of students; John E. Hocutt, dean of men; Dr. Katharine Jeffers, dean of women; and Marguerite Wynne-Roberts, assistant dean of women.

The privilege of riding in cars was extended to sophomore, junior and senior women. Upperclassmen may ride in cars within the city limits of Williamsburg during their social hours, provided that they have signed out first with their housemother. Special permissions to ride outside of the approved area will be granted by the assistant dean of women.

General Permission Needed

Students must have a general permission from home for riding in automobiles before any permission can be granted by the college. This permission will be kept on file in Miss Wynne-Roberts' office. With special letters of permission from their parents, students may ride home or to football games in Richmond.

Regulations for freshman women are similar to those applying to all women students under the former riding rule.

In announcing the passage of the amended riding rule, Shirley stressed the fact that the rule would be in effect for a trial period of one year. "We've waited a long time for this," she said. "Let's not lose this privilege by abusing it."

Punishment Is Dismissal

The regulation governing the possession of cars by students, announced this fall by Dr. John E. Pomfret, president of the college, subjects all students riding in unregistered automobiles to dismissal from college. The amended Article VI of the WSCGA constitution opens with the following: See CAR REGULATIONS, Page 6

266 Students Fail To Make Grades For Formal Rushing

Mid-semester grades, released last week, revealed that 43 women and 223 men had failed to make the scholastic average required for rushing eligibility.

Rushing for freshmen and transfers who had received the necessary quality points began yesterday and will continue throughout this week. Fraternities will observe Silence Day on Saturday, Dec. 6, and bids will go out on Sunday, Dec. 7. Sorority final parties will be held on Monday, Dec. 8, followed by Silence Day on Tuesday, Dec. 9. Rushes will receive their bids on Wednesday, Dec. 10.

Virginia Whittemore, chairman of the Pan-Hellenic Council, asked that all rushes who are unable to attend a party because of schedule conflicts or other reasons write a note expressing their regrets and asking if another time can be arranged. These notes may be placed in the sorority boxes in the lobby of Barrett Hall. Day students will receive their invitations and bids in the day students' room in Jefferson Hall.

Dr. Haigh Will Speak At Vesper Services

Dr. Andrew C. Haigh, associate professor of fine arts, will be guest speaker at the vesper services tomorrow in Wren Chapel at 6:30 p. m.

During the week preceding the Christmas recess, candle-light vesper services will be held. The choir will sing Christmas carols at these two services, which are scheduled for Monday and Friday, Dec. 15 and 18.

The services will complement the Christmas concert which will be presented on Dec. 16 and 17.

Coward's 'Blithe Spirit' Starts Tomorrow Night

Second Performance To Begin Early In Consideration Of Greek Rushing

By Ronald King

Returning to a conventional play in which the actors neither mingle nor confer with the audience, the William and Mary Players will offer their second production of the theatrical season, Noel Coward's Blithe Spirit, in Phi Beta Kappa Hall tomorrow night at 8.

The curtain will rise at 7 p. m. for the second performance on Thursday in consideration of the rushing activities of the fraternities and sororities.

Morton, historian; Dr. Donald W. Davis, recording secretary, and Vernon L. Nunn, treasurer. Missing from the picture is Dr. Walter Vest, president.

Lippmann To Lecture

At Phi Beta Kappa's 171st Anniversary

Walter Lippmann, political analyst, and Allen Tate, American poet, will participate in the 171st anniversary celebration of the founding of Phi Beta Kappa fraternity which will be held on Friday, Dec. 5, at William and Mary.

Lippmann, one of America's foremost political analysts, will address a public meeting to be held at 8:15 p. m. on that date in Phi Beta Kappa Hall. His subject will be "Philosophy and United States Foreign Policy."

At the present time, Lippmann is a special writer for the New York Herald Tribune, and newspapers all over the country carry his syndicated column. A Harvard graduate, he has served as associate editor of the New Republic and as editor of the New York World. He contributes to Life, Harper's and the Atlantic and is the author of 20 books on various phases of American political thought.

Member Of Phi Beta Kappa

Lippmann is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the National Institute of Arts and Letters and the American Academy of Arts and Letters. During the first World War, he held the rank of captain in the U. S. army's military intelligence.

Allen Tate, who has been selected as the poet for this occasion, is a member of the editorial board of Henry Holt & Co. and is former editor of the Swanee Review.

Tate will speak on modern poetry and will read selections from his own work on Thursday, Dec. 5, at 8 p. m. in Barrett living room. He will read the poem he composed for Phi Beta Kappa at the Friday celebration.

Founded In 1776

The anniversary of Phi Beta Kappa, one of the nation's outstanding honorary societies, which was founded in 1776 at the College of William and Mary and has expanded throughout the country until it now has chapters in 141 colleges and universities, is celebrated each year at William and Mary. Preceding the public celebration, William and Mary students elected to Phi Beta Kappa this fall will be initiated into the society.

When originally founded in 1776, Phi Beta Kappa differed little from other undergraduate, Greek-letter societies. Its ritual was secret; its emphasis was on literary as well as scholastic achievement. In its early years, annual celebrations were held in the Apollo Room of the original Raleigh Tavern in Williamsburg. The early chapter, however, was short-lived. On Jan. 6, 1781, in the face of the turmoil and confusion of the peninsular campaign of the Revolution, Phi Beta Kappa at William and Mary sealed its records and put them in the hands of the college steward, many of its members then becoming active participants in the war.

Outstanding Members

Although it functioned only a little more than four years, the early William and Mary chapter possessed many members who later became outstanding in Virginia and national affairs. From this group two became members of the Continental Congress, two became United States senators, two became judges of the higher Virginia courts, one became a diplomat, and two, Bushrod Washington and John Marshall, became jurists on the Supreme Court of the United States.

While Phi Beta Kappa remained inactive at William and Mary until 1849, its principles, as formulated by the parent chapter, spread to other schools. A few years following the founding of the original chapter, charters were granted by it for chapters at Harvard and Yale. Not long after, Phi Beta Kappa spread to other New England schools.

Records Located

In 1849 the William and Mary chapter of Phi Beta Kappa again became active. Its activity continued. See PHI BETA, Page 12

Starred in the drawing room comedy of the supernatural are James Bray, Nancy Adams and Susan Strong. Bray, a senior and veteran college performer, will appear in the role of Charles Condomine, a young man who is quite dismayed when his dead wives return from the grave to harass him. Nancy will portray Elvira, wife number one, while Susan will be the second spouse, Ruth.

Mary Gershanck makes with the mayhem as Madame Arcatti, the merry medium. Edith, the maid, in the person of Dulcie Duke, will serve tea and crumpets to the Condomines and to their guests, Doctor and Mrs. Bradman, as portrayed by freshmen Douglas Williams and Elizabeth Bartlett.

Patrons of the William and Mary Theatre will be relieved to know that the Phi Beta stage has been elevated permanently so that See PLAY, Page 11

Loss Necessitates Tavern's Closing

Chowning's Tavern was temporarily closed last Sunday, Nov. 30, as a result of a seasonal decline in business, as plans for a new coffee house to be situated on Duke of Gloucester Street were being completed. The game room of the Williamsburg Lodge will be made available each Sunday evening to students without charge.

The expenses encountered in operating Chowning's, as well as the fact that college students are the only important sources of income when the tourist trade is lowest, necessitate closing it during the winter months. This practice was followed in the pre-war years, the last time that the tavern was open for business prior to 1947.

It is expected that during the period of closure, business at the Powhatan will increase and that many employees will seek permanent hotel work in Florida. When Chowning's re-opens on Apr. 1, several innovations, such as a vocal quartet may be introduced, announced Frank Carpenter, manager.

Among the expenses responsible for the need to suspend business and also for the existing high prices are candles, the cost and upkeep of the $80 uniforms worn by the employees, and the furniture, every article of which is a genuine antique.

The new coffee shop, scheduled to open within a few weeks after the first of the year, will occupy the site of the former USO. Construction changes, such as the installation of booths and kitchen equipment and the shifting of partitions, are being undergone at present. The shop, to be named the Harvey after its owner, Harvey Lindsay, of Norfolk, will be modernistically designed and will seat 74 persons at its booths and counters. No table service will be offered.

Out-Of-State Enrollment

It has become an established policy in recent years on the part of the College of William and Mary to accept a very low number of out-of-state students despite the fact that applications show superior qualities in the secondary schools from which they come. There is no law that says Virginia colleges must give preference to state students but most state institutions give preference to satisfactory applications of Virginia students as a matter of principle.

We are definitely not advocating the exclusion of satisfactory Virginia applicants, since the College William and Mary, as well as other state institutions, is supported and kept going by the Virginia taxpayers. However, any Virginia high school graduate, whether he has desirable qualifications or not, may gain entrance by falling back on the "Virginia preference principle." Colleges are said to be the "melting pots" of the nation, and if the present segregation policy continues at state institutions over the country the people will have no opportunity to meet and fraternize with individuals from other sections of the United States.

Virginia ranks 40th in the nation in expenditures for education. In 1930, Virginia ranked 42nd in this, which appears to be the lowest she has ever gone. Fortieth seems to be the highest. Since the salary scale to teachers is so low, competition for teaching positions in Virginia secondary schools can't be very keen. Men have "flunked out" of William and Mary, and then have taught in state high schools. Other rankings for Virginia are: average salary to teachers, 37th; number of children enrolled in public high schools in relation to total number of high school age, 40th; percentage of relative tax-paying ability expended for public schools, 44th.

A study by the morgue staff of The FLAT HAT reveals the following facts about the student body during the period 1938-47: 75 out-of-state individuals were student leaders compared with 43 Virginia students (included in this category are the president of the student body, editors of the three publications, the four class presidents, heads of the honor councils and the chairmen of the judicial and executive committees); 33 out-of-state men and 22 Virginia men made Omicron Delta Kappa; 55 out-of-state and 16 Virginia women were elected to Mortar Board; 89 out-of-state students were elected to Phi Beta Kappa compared to 73 Virginia students, and only 50 of the 131 students awarded Merit Scholarships were Virginians. Enrollment figures during this time show that approximately half of the student body resided in Virginia. These figures may be explained by the fact that the committee on admissions is in a position to be very careful about admitting the out-of-state high school graduates. This is especially true of women. We add, however, that improvement in the Virginia secondary school system might improve the lop-sided tally.

If Virginia loses money on the "foreign" students, raise their tuition! It would undoubtedly relieve many of the Deans of admissions from replying with a definite "No" to hundreds of applicants.

Lb. Moore Hails Liberation!

Women May Ride In Cars

Comes the liberation!! William and Mary co-eds have shed the evils of a double standard. We can ride in cars—at least most of us can ride in cars—in registered cars, that is.

The recent affirmative verdict of the faculty-administration committee on a liberalized car-riding rule for women was the best news we've had in a long time. While the provision was modified somewhat, it is really almost as much as we asked for.

Original Provision

The provision in its original form called for permission for junior and senior women to ride in automobiles in Williamsburg, Yorktown, Jamestown and vicinity during the social hours. After running the gamut of student committees, faculty advisory committees, and, finally, a committee composed of Dr. Pomfret, the deans, and the WSG faculty advisers we have come out with the next thing to the original proposal.

As it stands now, sophomore, junior and senior women can ride in cars in the city of Williamsburg during the social hours. It should be definitely understood by the women that the cars must be registered if driven by a college student, since the women are held as responsible as the driver.

We Were Fortunate

We had the good fortune of being in on this proposal from the time it was born over a cup of coffee at the Greek's last April and we are impressed with one factor that puts an omnipotent BUT in the newly-acquired privilege.

We can ride in cars now, BUT, it is on a trial basis—for ONE

YEAR. The women who drafted the proposal asked that such a period of probation be considered since allowing females to ride in cars around here is a real innovation, and they felt that steps in that direction should be taken cautiously. There's the possibility that the privilege will be grossly violated, but on the other hand, if we accept the privilege as a responsibility and live up to the spirit, as well as the letter, of the law we can retain this new, anti-Victorian rule.

Penalties For Violations

Violations of this car-riding rule will mean that it will be snatched away, post haste. Here is a case in which student cooperation means absolutely everything. It's likewise a case of cooperating among ourselves—the administration is merely settling back to observe how we handle the situation. We've been struggling for this new rule for years now. Let's don't let the violations of a few penalize the majority of women.

King Smears Cavaliers In This Week's

William And Mary-Go-Round

Walking out of the Greek's the other night, we were shoved abruptly by a tottering, reeling young man. Oblivious to our clenched fists, he withdrew a coin from his pocket and proceeded to insert it in the keyhole of the door. Looking up at the clock in the restaurant, he mumbled something about losing a lot of weight, turned, and asked for the time. "Eleven," said we.

"Eleven? I'll never make my ten o'clock class!"

We assured him that he would.

"Shay, Mac. Where am I?"

"You're in the doorway of the Greek's on the Duke of Gloucester Street."

"Skip the details. What town am I in?"

"Williamsburg." "Williamsburg?"

With that, he let out a "geek" yell, dashed to a maroon convertible, and in a flash was careening madly down Richmond Road. On the rear window of the car was an emblem which proclaimed, "University of Virginia."

Much as we hate to pollute these pages with reference to the unfortunate wards of the Commonwealth at Charlottesville, we feel that it is our duty to report from time to time on the seamy side of life.

We paddled up to Hiccup Harbor recently to observe the crappulous Cavaliers in action. Not that there was much action to observe; just an occasional turning of the head and lifting of the nose by the Charlottesville charlatans (clad in gray-flannel underwear) as we passed in our shoddy gabardines.

Rolling Students

The grounds of the University blend well with the inhabitants. . . The rolling hills and the swaying trees. . . The rolling students and their swaying knees. . . Breath-taking, both. . . All the place needs to make the lads feel at home is a replica of the Leaning Tower of Pisa.

As we walked along, we saw a most pitiful creature, an emaciated, flea-ridden hound, a mixture of so many breeds that even the chemistry department had failed in its analysis. This whelp, we discovered, was none other than the Cavalier mascot, Seal (an appropriate name considering the number of seals which are broken at Virginia each day). The students originally wanted to name the dog "Yankee," but the proposal was blocked by the Society for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities.

The University newspaper, we learned, is called "College Topics," a misleading bit of nomenclature when one discovers the limited number of topics which concern the average Cavalier. At this writing the National Collegiate Press Association is still looking for a tactful adjective with which to rate the paper.

The town of Charlottesville has four movie houses. One, however, exhibits nothing but Walt Disney cartoon cavalcades; another alternates a pair of films—"The Lost Weekend" and "Hangover Square"; a third is a newsreel theatre devoted solely to action shots of Bill Dudley on the gridiron; the other theatre is a prefabricated structure, secured from the War Assets Administration, and from force of habit, we suppose, shows only the "Why We Fight" series (plus a few "She Looked Clean, But—" short subjects).

We dropped into an establishment which, for the sake of decency, we will identify as the Virginia Diner, and noted that the students were all smiles as they sipped their coffee. After ordering a cup of java and imbibing therein, we knew that it wasn't the coffee which occasioned the good cheer. No. The University of Virginia had just been selected to play in the Seagram Bowl against an all-star squad from Alcoholics Anonymous.

Our Pedigree

With puckish intent, we ambled over to a table, submitted our pedigree, and joined in the conversation. Having listened to the glory of the Cavaliers and their triple-threat back (he walks, he talks, he counts to ten), we casually mentioned the William and Mary eleven.

The group tormented us for our folly. Virginia was strictly big time! Hadn't they been defeated by some of the best teams in the country? Weren't they always good losers? (We had to admit they were perfect.) They pointed out that Virginia had not lost a game to the Big Green in years.

"Why won't you play the Indians?" we asked innocently.

The lads dipped their noses in the coffee, and one managed to sputter something about the unsportsmanlike practice of starching our shoulder pads. We slapped his wrist and departed from the diner, knowing full well why they wouldn't play us: A guy named Pride would have died as a result of the game. Besides, there weren't enough hotels in Williamsburg to make the trip worthwhile for the Cavalier Wrecking Service.

Ah, yes. . . Good old Virginia. May your students continue to inspire those who advocate birth control.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor:

I have just finished reading your latest effort and found it exceedingly odoriferous.

Why is a column like "Bot-E-Talk" allowed to remain in the paper? I should think that Printer's Local 204 would strike for higher wages on the grounds that the temptation to unswallow while typesetting "Bot-E-Talk" constitutes an occupational hazard. There's enough "dirt" floating around campus already without having something like this to aggravate the situation. Why don't you allocate a special page of advertisement for the "wheels" who only live for the day when their names will thrill the frosh in your equivalent of "The Blue Book?" Charge them 25 cents per name—or five for one dollar.

And what's wrong with Lb. Moore? Why not just completely delete the column and replace it with an eight-by-ten of her, scantily attired in a French bathing suit? Really, Miss Moore, how many undergraduates (with the possible exception of the Student Assembly itself) are earnestly interested in student government goings-on—isn't it true that the important issues are completely beyond our control?

However, all is not lost; King can always put out six or seven successful pages of his humor and please the public—but what's going to happen when "S. J." or "Max" start asking for royalties?

Sincerely,
Bud Bridges

Editor's Note:

We agree with Mr. Bridges in that Bot-E-Talk is much more of a liability than an asset for an all-around good paper, but a great many "students of higher learning" at the College of William and Mary feel that Bot-E-Talk "is the only thing in the paper worth reading."

The fact that "important issues are completely beyond our control" may be partially explained because students like you with their "I-don't-give-a-damn attitude" don't take an active interest in student government.

To the Editor:

In his column concerning the program of the United World Federalists, Mr. Arthur P. Thompson, in referring to the recent International Relations clubs conference, stated that the solution to be reached by the conference was a foregone conclusion. I wish to make it clear to the readers of The FLAT HAT that this was not the intention of those planning the conference.

The conference theme, "Peace Through a Balance of Power or World Government," was chosen because of a belief by a large number of the club members that one of the big issues facing the United States today is whether to work for a strong UN with real power, or to create a balance of power outside of that organization.

The IRC in contracting Mr. Saute of the World Government Institute at Rollins College, requested that he give an objective discussion of the conference theme and not an evangelistic plea for federalism. That Mr. Saute did not do this was beyond the control of those in charge of the conference.

It is true that a large number of the delegates to the conference were in favor of federalism, but I wish to point out to Mr. Thompson that there were many arguments against the UWF program in every round-table discussion, and certainly the debate on the subject of world government presented strong arguments against federation.

The IRC is a discussion group which attempts to maintain an objective stand on issues of international importance. Though many of its members may favor federalism and other movements, the club as a whole is not working for any one program. If the IRC conference turned out in favor of world government instead of a balance of power, it was because a majority of the delegates were in favor of federalism and not because the conference was planned to turn out that way, as Mr. Thompson seems to insinuate.

I should further like to state that though some of the statements made by Mr. Thompson in his column are apropos and worthy of consideration by those interested in world government, he does not seem to have a clear picture of the United World Federalist picture as I understand it. I will leave it to others, however, to refute his remarks.

Sincerely,
John H. Fritz,
President, IRC

William And Mary War Dormitories, Built For Federal Prisoners, Now House Students

By Caroline Geddy

Russia has her Siberia, France her Devil's Island, the United States her Alcatraz—and not to be outdone, William and Mary has her war dormitories.

Originally built to house Federal prisoners captured during the Seven Days Battles, these so-called structures were located at the Seven Pines battlefield before being moved to their present position, slightly east of Toano and only a few miles from the campus of the College of William and Mary. During the late war, the buildings were dubbed "dormitories" when used to house surplus ensigns brought to Williamsburg to ease the manpower shortage.

In these glorified orange crates now dwell the outcasts of Toano Flats, the men without homes. These suburbanites of William and Mary are now lobbying the state legislature in an attempt to have the C&O operate trains for them. At present their somewhat erratic bus schedule has driven them to choosing either (1) to spend all their time at the Craigmere Shop, thus missing all classes, or (2) spending all their time on campus, thus sleeping on the desks in The FLAT HAT office.

But as tough as things may seem, there are the lighter moments: the bowling games in the halls—with coke bottles, the ever-present football games — minus equipment, the buses—when they start — pinochle, poker and dogs. Naturally, the dogs! Several hundred of Williamsburg's canine population hold forth there. Some have names; one even has a collar. But whether an "Amber," "Oliver," or "Blinker," they're still dogs.

Then there's always the private cafeteria, a nice mess hall as mess halls go. It used to have a reputation for good food, now it's famous for its cold bread. Last year (it's alleged) the Richmond Road vets were distinguished for their Dean's List ability. Now it's so cold they have to study in their overcoats, and who wants to study that way?

Who wants to study anyway—so everyone adjourns to the Craigmere Shop for a cheeseburger. But why shouldn't it be cold—there're holes in the walls, and the doors are off the hinges. But life goes on, even if the buses don't.

Freshmen To Discuss Dixie Bowl Pep Rally

Freshmen will discuss the possibility of sponsoring a Dixie Bowl pep rally on Dec. 18 at their first class meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 9, in Phi Beta Kappa hall.

Robert Hendrich, president of the class, stated that there will be entertainment following the general business meeting. Dance, treasury and advertising committees will be appointed for the coming year.

The Women's Auxiliary of Bruton Parish will hold a Christmas bazaar on Saturday, Dec. 6 at 11 a. m. in the Parish house.

Mrs. Bruce McCully, Mrs. Vernon Geddy, Mrs. Russell Wing and Miss Margaret Marsh are co-chairmen of the affair. They have planned a food mart, a gift corner, a doll booth and a books store.

Society Reporters Plague Public Relations Director

By Nicky Dillard

The Department of Public Relations, under the direction of John T. Cox, serves as the agency for news releases for approximately 160 radio stations, newspapers, and newspaper syndicates, such as the Associated Press, the United Press, the International News Service, and NEA.

Three Assistants

With the aid of three student assistants, Earle Copp, Jr., Tommy Joynes and Jim Elliott, Cox handles stories concerning college administration, student activities, and athletics.

The Department serves primarily as a news bureau; however, aside from acting in this capacity, Cox makes all arrangements for press reporters and photographers when celebrities and public dignitaries feature in college events such as convocations. The office serves as a clearing house for distant fans asking for William and Mary stickers and athletic programs, which are sent out to all who ask for them.

Society editors frequently plague the office for lists of students from their locality attending the college. In conjunction with this, one of the functions of the department is to send out individual stories to the hometown newspapers concerning the activities or honors of students from that locality.

Furnishes Sports Publicity

Sports publicity, particularly during football season, is a primary objective of the department, especially when the games are with distant opponents. In the case of the game with Boston University, Cox went to Boston on the Tuesday preceding Saturday's tilt and handled stories concerning the team with emphasis on individual performance. Cox stated that advance publicity is a decisive factor in ticket sales and is a means of familiarizing spectators with the players. Cox expects to travel to Birmingham, Ala., on Dec. 20 for the William and Mary Bowl game. "It's strictly a salesmanship proposition," Cox remarked. "Birmingham sells the bowl and we sell the team."

Cox came to William and Mary on August first, succeeding Laurence Leonard. A native of Newport News, he worked for the Newport News Times-Herald for five and one-half years where he was assistant city editor. He attended the University of Illinois.

It's rumored that a few boys living at the vets dorms attended three days of classes at Richmond before they realized they were going in the wrong direction. And, if you make dean's list and live up there, you get a three-day pass on the campus.

Looked over by Botty: Students going in mourning at the closing of Chowning's as of Sunday night. Notice the armbands on many of the acclaimed teetotalers? Sooner Parks and Fred Kovaleski dating. Someone has started an "Under Two Club" in competition with the "Over 50 Club" now organized in Barrett. Jack Hickman and Winnie Blatchford emerging from the darkness of the S. G. Bill Holland and Chris Jones there too.

Up to see the pretty uniforms: Joan Carpenter, Bettie Pace, Dolores Ledfors, Terrie Howe, Suzelle Hull, Kitty Trask, Lois Willis and Phyl Reardin. And more pretty uniforms up at VMI, Jane Uhlen-dorf went to view.

Paul Levin with his bowl-shaped haircut and mutterings about the quarter tip to the barber.

Marty Herman and Ronnie Hanft importing some home-town gals from Brooklyn for the Phi Alpha dance Friday. And Lenny Sands with Sonja Rosenfeld at the same.

Botty reminisces about record romances: Bill Murphy pinned to Lucy Jones on the first night — now they're engaged, yet. Sam Helfrich pinned to Bette Hotopp for eight whole hours.

Dick Schofield and Reid Pulley enjoying Thanksgiving turkey in Richmond? Bill Jones returning with booty (a goal post) from the Richmond game. Chub Hopkins and Si Plunkett chuckling together.

Bill Hux going in strict training after the Bowling Green game and the pass he caught. When he found out McCray wouldn't give him a uniform for Thanksgiving, he broke training.

Then wedding bells clanged again this week end as Alice Lee Ritchie and Jerry Colvin and Marie Hall and Lou Lang took that final step. But back to class at 8 a. m. Monday.

Thad Crump Speaks To W & M Students At Mass Meeting

Addressing the William and Mary student body at a mass meeting Tuesday night, Nov. 25, in Phi Beta Kappa hall, Thad Crump, president of the student body of University of Richmond, urged both institutions to join in a campaign to eliminate raids to each other's campuses.

That morning Shirley Sprague, Howard Hyle, Robert Hendrich, John Dayton, Warren Smith and

Student Assembly Members Vote To Form New Dance Committee

Student Assembly members, acting upon the report of the Student Assembly committee on the Dance Committee, voted to abolish Article IX of the Student Government constitution at a meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 25.

According to the new amendment which will be substituted for the deleted article, student representatives will include three members of the student body, appointed by the Student Assembly, who shall be the chairman of the Interclub Council, a member of the Student Assembly and a third member to be appointed by the Assembly.

Other Representatives

Other student representatives to the newly-formed dance committee shall be the chief of the President's Aides, president of the Pan-Hellenic Council and president of the Fraternity Association.

The president of the college shall appoint the faculty-administration representation. It is recommended that two of these be chosen from the fine arts department and one from the administration.

Acting upon his power to pick the members of his committee, Tom Athey, chairman of the Student Assembly committee on the Dance Committee, appointed Barbara Simons, John Dayton, Herbert Bateman, Frances Fleming, Virginia Whittemore, William Norgren, Ed Ward, Helen Thomson, Lorabeth Moore and Marilyn Graves to serve on his committee.

The administration representative to the Dance Committee shall be its chairman and shall have veto power. The secretary of this committee shall be elected from among the student representatives and shall have the duty of supplying the Student Government with a copy of the minutes of each meeting, and at the end of each semester, a financial report for the past semester. The Student Assembly member shall submit a report at each regular meeting of the Assembly.

This committee is responsible for all college dances, with the exception of fraternity and sorority ones and shall submit a dance calendar to the assistant dean of women and to the Student Assembly. The formation of this committee must be approved by the General Co-operative Committee before it can become active.

"Amendment Necessary"

Chairman Athey stated that the committee feels that "only through the adoption of an amendment such as the one included herein can William and Mary have dances that are well-organized and financially sound."

Howard Hyle, president of the student body, appointed Shirley Sprague, Dick Carter and Bob Hendrich to be a contact committee with the Law Club. Their business is to work on a new constitution and by-laws.

Dick Carter was elected chairman of the Publications Committee. New members of the Student Assembly who were sworn into office by the president were Dick Carter, Bob Hendrich, Kitty Nottingham, Betty Hicks and Mary Ann English.

Choirs Will Give Christmas Concert Dec. 16 And 17

"The William and Mary choral organizations will present their Christmas Concert on Tuesday and Wednesday, Dec. 16 and 17, at 8 p. m. in Phi Beta Kappa hall," announced Carl A. Fehr, director of the groups.

At this concert the choral groups will sing Handel's Messiah. The solo parts of the Messiah will be sung by students in the organizations, and the entire program will be purely a product of student effort. Miss Frances O. Robinson, instructor in fine arts, will play the organ and Mrs. Alan C. Stewart, the piano for the event. Stage and lighting effects will be produced by Albert Haak, Roger Sherman, and Fred Allen.

The admission for this concert will be 60 cents, and the profits made on this will go towards the fund for new choir robes.

The choral groups will also participate in the candlelight chapel services held in Wren chapel on Monday and Friday, Dec. 15 and 19, from 8:30-7 p. m.

"We appreciate the help and interest of the faculty and students in our choral groups, and we hope to continue to present good programs," said Fehr.

Debaters To Meet Lynchburg College

Plans have been completed for the Intercollegiate Debate Council to meet a team from Lynchburg College here on Wednesday, Dec. 10, and to be host to a team from the St. Helena extension on Friday, Dec. 12.

This year the northern trip of the William and Mary team will include American University, of Washington, D. C., St. Joseph's College, of Philadelphia, Pa., New York University, Columbia University and Harvard. The national collegiate topic will be discussed at all the preceding schools with the exception of Harvard is Resolved: that A World Federal Government Should be Established.

David Lindauer, manager for the northern trip, announced that it will take place immediately following Christmas vacation.

"The Debate Council is seeking to hold an increased number of home debates this year so that the students can hear their representatives in action," declared James Carpenter, president.

John E. Hocutt, dean of men, has requested that all pre-ministerial students report their names to his office on the first floor of Marshall-Wythe Hall.

Indians Will Play Arkansas In First Dixie Bowl Game

Big Green Takes SC Crown By Trampling Spiders, 35-0

The usual Thanksgiving drama was re-enacted in Richmond once more last Thursday, with Coach Rube McCray's Dixie Bowl-bound William and Mary Indians piling up a 28-0 lead at halftime and coasting to a 35-0 victory over the Richmond Spiders and the second Southern Conference championship to come to Williamsburg in five years.

While there was never any doubt about the outcome of the game, some poor officiating and a couple of strategic fumbles put the Indians in holes on a couple of occasions. At time the game became unnecessarily rough, and one Richmond player was finally ejected from the game.

William and Mary's team looked like real champions in scoring the first time they got their hands on the ball with a drive from the Richmond 33 to paydirt. Richmond had received the opening kickoff and run a few plays before punting. Passes by Stan Magdziak and a rather complete disregard for the seven-man Spider line by Jack Cloud set up the initial score, and the Norfolk Flyer plunged over from the four. Magdziak kicked the extra point.

Bruce Intercepts

Jack Bruce intercepted one of Cotton Billingsley's passes and returned it to the 50 late in the opening chapter, and a few minutes later a touchdown was set up by a pass and run, Buddy Lex to Herb Poplinger, which carried 45 yards to the Richmond four. Magdziak passed to Henry Blanc in the end zone for the score, and then kicked the extra point.

Later in the same period, Magdziak passed from the Richmond 14 to Vito Ragazzo on the one, and the lanky freshman stepped into the end zone for a touchdown. For the last score before the half, Lex passed to Ragazzo in the end zone after a run by Blanc and a 15-yard penalty against Richmond had put the ball on the 21 yard line. Magdziak kicked both extra points.

Richmond Threatens

The third period was marked by the most serious Richmond drive, and the Spiders kept the ball most of the period. The Indians were held scoreless in that period.

In the fourth Bruce intercepted a Richmond pass on the W&M 15 and returned it to the 34. Then Cloud's running and Magdziak's passing moved the ball all the way to the UR one-yard line. Cloud took it over for the last score of the year to run his total to 90 points for the season. Magdziak again kicked the point.

Trying to salvage something, the Spiders threatened when Hofbauer stole the ball from a W&M back and took it to the Indian 12. Then William and Mary was penalized to the one and Coach McCray sent his regular line back in. In four downs, Richmond lost two yards, and the game ended after the sequence of plays.

Court Workouts Begin For Women

Practices for basketball intramural games will start Monday, Dec. 1, and will continue until Feb. 9. Each organization must sign up for its practices by Dec. 3. The list of practice times is on the physical education bulletin board in Jefferson Hall. Two practices a week are required.

Intramural representatives must report lists of the girls who are practicing, even though they might not play in the games, to Miss Reeder by Dec. 3.

Games will start Feb. 9. and each organization may have as many teams as they wish, as long as they have nine girls on the first team. There must be six or more girls for the other teams.

The physical education department recommends that each girl carry the college accident insurance policy.

Southern Conference Titlists To Face Southwestern Eleven

The first annual Dixie Bowl, to be played at Birmingham, Ala., Jan. 1, will pit the William and Mary Indians, champions of the Southern Conference, against a strong University of Arkansas team from the Southwestern Conference.

The contract between the bowl committee and the college was signed last Wednesday night after Leo R. Burson had flown north to make the offer officially. He left no doubt in the minds of William and Mary officials that the new bowl was well based financially and that its chances of success were great.

W. S. (Pappy) Gooch, business manager of athletics, is accepting orders for tickets to the New Year's game, and it is expected that over 1,000 pasteboards will be made available in Williamsburg. There is also a strong probability that a "William and Mary-Dixie Bowl Special" train will be run from Richmond to Birmingham to accommodate supporters of the Big Green team. Definite arrangements on the transportation are not definite yet, however.

"Forget Football"

Meanwhile, Coach Rube McCray told his football team to "relax and forget football," following the victory over Richmond Thursday. The team has worked almost every day since Sept. 1.

The game at Birmingham is planned to be about the same size as the Orange Bowl at Miami, with permanent and temporary seats totaling 38,000. The ticket maximum is $6.75, with a minimum of around $5. It is under the sponsorship of the American Legion, the city of Birmingham and Burson, who is underwriting the project. Burson is the executive secretary, treasurer and general director.

The usual lavish entertainment afforded by the bowls will be given the William and Mary team, and a large sized trophy will be awarded the winner of the game.

NBC May Air Game

The committee in charge is making an effort to get the game broadcast over the nationwide NBC hookup with Red Barber doing the announcing. If such an arrangement were made, the game would start at 1:15 p. m. instead of 2 so that it would be over in time for the Rose Bowl broadcast to start. At any rate, Burson assured Sam Cary, program manager of WRVA, that the Richmond station would be able to air the game.

The William and Mary opponent, selected subject to the approval of the Southwestern Conference, boasts a 5-4-1 record, too.

Among the teams which have lost to Arkansas are Mississippi and Texas Christian, SMU defeated that team, 14-7.

MCCRAY AUTOGRAPHS CONTRACT which will take the William and Mary Indians to the first annual Dixie Bowl at Birmingham on Jan. 1. Looking on is Leo T. Burson, executive secretary of the bowl committee. The ceremony took place last Wednesday night.

SMOKE SIGNALS

By BILL GREER

Last week was one of the biggest in the history of William and Mary athletics.

Just after Coach Rueben N. McCray's fine team had received a bid to the new and promising Dixie Bowl at Birmingham, Ala., the team trampled Richmond to take the Southern Conference championship for the second time in the history of the school and complete the best season a Tribe team has ever posted.

The same week McCray was selected as the "Coach of the Year" in the Southern Conference, Knox Ramsey was picked on the second team of the United Press All-American team, four Indians were named to the All-Southern eleven and the All-State. Jack Cloud, too, won his share of honors, being picked on the New York Sun All-America eleven.

Dixie Bowl Invitation

Early in the week speculation regarding a bowl bid for the Braves reached a high pitch, and was capped by an announcement from Birmingham that William and Mary had accepted a bid to play in the Bowl there. It turned out that the agreement was tentative, but when Leo Burson, Dixie Bowl representative, conferred with William and Mary officials Wednesday night, there was no doubt that the new Jan. 1 game was on a sound financial basis, and the contract was signed.

Burson watched William and Mary play against Richmond Thanksgiving and had many kind words of praise for McCray's team. He said it was one of the best teams he had seen all year and added that he felt it was one of the best in the country.

Outstanding W&M Line

Most impressive to Burson was the goal-line stand by the Indian first team in the final minutes of the game. He felt quite well satisfied with the committee's selection.

Most of the later speculation on the game after the Indian bid was accepted was centered around the possible William and Mary opponent. Mississippi, with its passing combination of Connerly and Poole, was mentioned prominently, as was Vanderbilt. Mississippi was unable to participate because of previous commitments. Arkansas was finally chosen Monday.

Dobson Lauds Team

Many others had kind words for the fine William and Mary first team. Frank Dobson, former University of Richmond and veteran Southern Conference coach, called it "a great team," and many Virginians were inclined to agree with him at the conclusion of the regular season.

Scanning through a game program, Dobson nostalgically pointed out scores which had been posted by some of his teams. Among them were a 9-7 win by Richmond over Duke in 1926, a 13-0 Spider win over Furman in 1922, and other marks.

Papoose Cagemen To Start Season

The William and Mary Junior Varsity will open its basketball season here tomorrow when they meet the Little Creek Naval Base, in a game starting at 7:30 p. m.

Coach Howard Smith says the entire squad probably will see action since almost all positions are still open after only three weeks of practice. He said the squad has worked hard in practice, and should be ready for Little Creek.

The 18-man Jayvee squad includes: Dan Dolan, Randy Mal-lory, Bill Ozenberger, Joe Gior-dano, Bill Phelan, Perry Lewis, Jim Mackey, Stretch Vescovi, Rink Koffard, Newall Lance, Tiff Kiser, Jack Billingsley, Ken Martin, Austin Wright, Chuck Williams, Jim Kelley, Howard Hill and Harry Knight.

Others may be out for the team now that football season is over.

W&M Cagers Open Hostilities Against The Citadel Saturday

Coach Barney Wilson's basketball team leaves this week end on a Southern trip to face two conference foes, The Citadel on Saturday, Dec. 6, and Furman on Monday, Dec. 8.

Plenty of hard work over a period of nearly two months has served to get the Indian court-men into top shape for their league openers. The final scrimmage with another team before the initial contests came last night when the Braves polished off the Medical College of Virginia five from Richmond.

Stresses Speed

Wilson has been working on speed, accuracy of shooting and ball-handling, with the fast break showing positive results. Several men have showed exceptional speed, with the most impressive display coming from Freshman "Fuzz" McMillan and Jere Bunting.

The first five in early drills consisted of Co-captains Charlie Sokol and Charlie Teach playing at the forwards, lanky Chester Giermak at center, and Johnny Green and McMillan at guards. These five are expected to start in the season's opener.

Two Home Games

After the trip to South Carolina, the Braves return to Virginia for four games before Christmas. Hampden-Sydney meets the Tribe halfway in a game at Petersburg on Dec. 11, and the Wilson forces entertain Western Maryland and the University of Virginia on Dec. 13 and 16, respectively.

The final game before the holidays will pit the Green five against Wake Forest's Deacons in Norfolk's City Auditorium on Saturday, Dec. 20.

Admission to the home games may be obtained by students by merely showing their ticket books.

New Touch '6' Assumes Lead

Sigma Rho climbed into first place in the Fraternity touch football league last week as they toppled SAE, 13-7. PIKA moved into second place when the intramural and fraternity directors decided to have SAE and PIKA replay their disputed game. This removed PIKA's only loss, leaving just one tie.

In the highlight game of the week Sigma Rho came from behind to beat SAE. SAE started the scoring by marching to a touchdown in the first set of plays in the game, Jim Ward going over for the six-pointer. A minute later they added the extra point and led, 7-0. Sigma Rho bounced back to score late in the first half. Pat Massaro set up the touchdown by intercepting a pass and racing back 50 yards to the SAE 10 yard line. Buck Kitchen connected with a pass to Jim Onove, and Sigma Rho was back in the game. Massaro tallied the extra point to make the score 7-7.

Winning Drive

Midway in the second half Sigma Rho struck again in what proved to be the winning drive. The push was climaxed by a touchdown heave from Kitchen to Ken Schmallerberger. The try for extra point failed and the score stood at 13-7. Sigma Rho held their advantage, and the game ended with no change in score.

The decision that the PIKA-SAE game should be replayed placed PIKA in the possible position of being able to decide the championship of the fraternity league one way or the other. PIKA has to play Sigma Rho and SAE.

If Sigma Rho can topple PIKA they will only have to knock off Phi Tau to claim the championship. However, if PIKA wins, the race will be wide open again, with the PIKA-SAE replay game probably deciding the final outcome.

In other games, Kappa Sig moved into fourth place in the standings by hanging up a 2-0 win over Sigma Pi. Theta Delt and Phi Alpha battled to a 13-13 tie, while SAE rolled over Pi Lamb, 28-6. PIKA and Phi Tau also hung up wins during the past week.

OD "A" Leads

In the independent league OD "A" the current leaders ended their regular season with a smashing 69-0 win over Club "51." This score pushed their average for the season to 44.7 points per game. Flying Vets defeated the Minerva Lions, 20-0. If they defeat Club 51 and Brown Hall they will tie with OD "A" for the league championship, making a playoff game necessary.

Swimming intramurals will begin Dec. 9, and all participants must be on hand at 7:30 p. m. at Blow pool. Applications must be in by Dec. 4.

Last year KA won the team swimming championship, while SAE came in second. Last year's winners and their times are: Ted Uhler, in the 150-yard free style 1:27; Mark Waldo, 50-yard breast See TOUCH, Page 7

SMOKE SIGNALS

He is very enthusiastic about the William and Mary team, not only for the great football-playing ability of the group, but also for the character of the players, for which he had special praise.

When a group of young men can be gathered to play as fine a brand of football as has been seen here this fall, much credit is due. When the team can show outstanding character as well, then some positive results of the college's athletic program can be seen.

Bad Officiating—Again

There were a couple of points that deserve criticism in the William and Mary-Richmond game. The consensus of opinion on the officiating was, "It was the worst I've ever seen." Most noticeable miscue on the part of the officials was a play in the third period when William and Mary kicked to the 50, the ball obviously touched a Richmond player, but the ball was awarded to the Spiders after an Indian lineman had fallen on it.

While there was no official on the spot and they did not have too good an opportunity to see what was happening, there should have been at least one man on the play. That's not asking too much, we don't think, since that's what the boys in the striped shirts are paid for.

Gallagher Sees Team

On hand to see the William and Mary game Thursday was Dick Gallagher, who assisted Coach McCray with the football team and tutored the Indian basketball five. He is the assistant to Paul Brown, of the Cleveland Browns, who won the Western Division championship of the All-America conference. He had been with the team for all its games and predicted that the Browns would be among the leaders of the nation's pro teams for years to come because of Brown's organizational ability.

At practices this fall, Eric Tipton, Indian backfield coach, has done much to help the W & M punters. Standing with Buddy Lex and booting them out, he showed much of the old form he had when he gained immortality as a Duke punter in 1938. Lex looked very much like Tipton in action and will be a great asset to the W&M team in the kicking department for the next two football seasons.

Gator Bowl Obtains Maryland, Bulldogs

One other Southern Conference team, the University of Maryland, is scheduled to play in a post-season game Jan. 1, when the Terps play the Bulldogs of the University of Georgia in the 'Gator Bowl' at Jacksonville, Fla.

Maryland has won seven, tied one and lost two, while Coach Wally Butts' team has a record of seven and four.

WAA Announces Hockey Schedule

In the Women's Athletic Association meeting of Nov. 25, it was announced that Melissa Warfield would be the hockey manager for next year.

A tentative schedule for the varsity basketball team was drawn up. It is as follows:

- Feb. 7 RPI, here
- Feb. 7 Norfolk Division Reserves, here
- Feb. 14 Westhampton (varsity and reserves), here
- Feb. 21 Farmville, there
- Feb. 25 Norfolk Division (reserves tentative), there

Car Regulations

"In accepting the following grant of privilege, the women students understand that William and Mary is to remain a resident college and shall contribute in no way to the abuse of the president's regulation regarding the possession of automobiles in Williamsburg and the use of unregistered cars. We are aware that violation of the president's regulation shall be considered grounds for dismissal from college. We assume the responsibility of adhering to both the president's regulation and the ones appearing below earnestly and with honor."

The women students voted to include the College Inn within the approved area. This proposal will be considered by the faculty advisors of the Judicial Committee. Shirley urged the students not to leave ashes and cigarette butts on the floors of classrooms, declaring that if the abuse continued, smoking privileges might be taken away.

Braves Take Second SC Championship

Final Southern Conference standing rank the William and Mary Indians in first place in that loop for the second time in the school's history, the other title having been won in 1942 when the "Fabulous Freshmen" of the Williamsburg football renaissance were seniors.

William and Mary is one of three teams with a single defeat, but the Tribe played more loop encounters than any other school and won the title on the percentage basis. North Carolina had four wins and a defeat at the hands of Wake Forest, a team which the Indians trampled decisively. South Carolina lost one and tied another while winning four, and Duke won three, lost one and tied one.

Besides winning the title, the Indians were the highest scoring team in the loop, and allowed only nine more points than the lowest team in the defensive department, N. C. State.

Committee Picks Razorbacks To Play W&M Indians Jan. 1

Coach John Barnhill's Razorbacks from the University of Arkansas were chosen by the Dixie Bowl committee to offer opposition for the William and Mary Indians in the Jan. 1 game to be played at Birmingham, Ala., an announcement from Leo T. Burton, executive secretary of the bowl committee, disclosed yesterday.

Coach R. N. McCray was not available in Williamsburg, but the Associated Press, contacting him in Durham, N. C., where he was being honored as Southern Conference "Coach of the Year," quoted him as saying, "It was a great idea for Southern and Southwestern Conference teams to get together."

McCray and Barnhill of the Razorbacks long have been close friends, and their athletic relationship extends back about as far as their personal friendship. Both are Tennesseans, and both have had a marked degree of success in the fickle profession of coaching. Barnhill coached at the University of Tennessee for a period during the absence of Gen. Bob Neyland, and took over the reins of the Arkansas school in time to lead the team there to a co-championship in the Southwestern Conference. His team there this fall is stronger than the record of five victories, four defeats and a single tie would imply.

Among the teams defeated by Arkansas are Mississippi's potent eleven, mentioned prominently as a foe for the Big Green on New Year's Day, and Texas Christian, which has had much success in the Lone Star State this autumn. Last Saturday Barnhill's team defeated Tulsa by a two-touchdown margin, and the Razorbacks hold victories over a couple of minor teams in the area and a 19-19 tie with the Texas Aggies.

Southern Methodist's powerhouse was good enough to defeat Arkansas by only a single touchdown, while other victors include other outstanding Southwestern elevens.

The Razorbacks are led offensively by Clyde (Smackover) Scott, who played for the Naval Academy before resigning to resume warfare for the Arkansas cause. The W&M opponent is reputed to have a strong line which will give an interesting comparison between a good line of the Eastern section of the country and a top Southwestern forward wall.

Redmen Rate High In U.S. On Statistics

The end of this football season finds William and Mary rating high, according to various statistical departments put out by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau.

Second in total defense to Penn State, the Indians have held their opponents to 1,348 yards, an average of 134.8 yards a game. The Braves are also second in rushing defense. All 10 teams were able to roll up only 620 yards at 62 yards per team. Though not rated among the top ten in passing defense, the Tribe has held their foes to 72.8 yards a game.

Offensively, William and Mary had its ups and downs, but finished with a 330.4 average per game. The powerful running offense totaled 2,065 yards. In 465 rushing attempts the assorted backs toted the ball for 2,306 yards, but were thrown for 241 yards lost. Average per try is 4.4, an impressive record in the books.

1239 Yards Through Air
A break-down on passing shows 181 passes attempted, but only 82 completed, a percentage of 45. A sum of 1,239 yards were garnered on completed passes, 15.1 yards per completion. Only 10 passes have been intercepted by the opponents.

Three men have gone a long way in making these figures. Jack Cloud has an average of 3.3 yards in 147 cracks at the line. Stan Magdziak, the Big Green's ace passer, only had a 44 completion percentage, hitting the target 37 out of 85 times for 535 yards. Buddy Lex ranks high in both departments with 86 running plays for 290 yards net gain, and 26 passes completed out of 54 for 442 yards. Cloud scored 15 touchdowns on running plays. Stan completed eight touchdown passes, and Lex threw three.

Ragazzo Stars
Vito Ragazzo was chief yardage-maker and point scorer on the receiving end of the passes. The slim end caught 16 tosses, turned six of them into tallies, and totaled 314 yards in the bargain. Second to him was co-captain Bob Steckroth who took in 13 passes, scored three times, and averaged 18.5 yards a catch.

Both Magdziak and Lex are close in the punting department, but "The Foot" has kicked 41 times, while Buddy has booted 13. Stan averaged exactly 40 yards a kick, and Lex averaged 39.8. The team totals, which include one punt by Korczowski, read: 55 punts, 2172 yards, 39.5 average.

Jack Bruce heads the punt-return department with an even 300 yards for 25 returns. Lex is the big chief in kick-off returns, rating 12th in the nation last week. In 10 runs he pounded out 304 yards. The big hay-maker in the intercepted pass returns was Jack Cloud's 60-yard interception and run for a touchdown against Wake Forest. He intercepted another

Southern Conference Coaches Pick McCray As Outstanding Mentor For 1947 Season

Reuben North McCray, head football coach and director of athletics at the College of William and Mary since 1944, was chosen Southern Conference "Coach of the Year" in a poll of the 16 head mentors of league schools.

McCray was chosen for the honor by a poll conducted by the Durham Morning Herald and the Durham Quarterback Club. At the same time Charlie Justice was named as the most valuable player, with Jack Cloud of William and Mary and Nick Ognovich of Wake Forest finishing in a tie for third place.

Justice and McCray, along with the entire coaching staffs of Duke, Davidson, Wake Forest, North

R. N. (Rube) McCray

Carolina and North Carolina State will attend a testimonial dinner Dec. 1, in Durham. Fred Russell, of the Nashville Banner, will be the main speaker.

Coming to William and Mary as an assistant to Carl Voyles in 1939, McCray served in that capacity until 1944 when he took over the helm. Since that time, he has coached four complete football seasons with an overall record of 28 victories, two ties and seven defeats.

His William and Mary team of this fall posted the best record in the history of the school, winning nine while dropping only the one-touchdown decision to the University of North Carolina.

He is a Tennessean who attended Kentucky Wesleyan College and later coached at Tennessee Wesleyan. He has had much success in coaching and is highly regarded among informed observers.

Star Redmen Win Mention For Fine Play

With the regular football season at an end, various persons and organizations over the nation are picking their all-star teams, and William and Mary players have been mentioned prominently on them.

Jack Cloud, bruising fullback on the Big Green eleven, has been named to the New York Sun All-America first team as well as to the All-Southern teams selected by the Associated Press and the United Press, and the Virginia All-State eleven picked by the AP.

Praise For Flyer

Many kind words have been spoken about the Flyer from Norfolk, including a statement by veteran columnist Grantland Rice that he is probably the best fullback in the country this year.

Knox Ramsey, fine guard and key man in Coach Rube McCray's forward wall, was picked to the second team of the United Press All-America, and was chosen to the same position on the team selected by sports editors of college newspapers throughout the nation. He was selected to the UP and AP All-Southern, and to the All-Virginia team as well.

Another Indian placing on the first-string of all three of sectional teams in this area was Tommy Thompson, big, bruising center who plays a terrific game for the Braves.

Steckroth Stars

Co-captain Bob Steckroth won a regular post on the AP All-Conference eleven, and was chosen to the second team of the UP squad. The other co-captain, Ralph Sazio, was picked to the regular tackle slot on the UP All-Southern, too.

Stan Magdziak was listed on the second team of the AP All-Southern and All-State, and both tackles, Sazio and Red Caughron placed on the second string all-state eleven. A number of other all-star squads are still to be selected, and the Braves stand a good chance of gaining recognition on them.

against Richmond, but only got away for 7 yards. Jack Bruce intercepted four from the Spiders and raised his total to nine for the season with a 9.2 average.

The scoring department is one of great happiness for the William and Mary shock troops. Undoubtedly they will rank among the top ten in the nation's scorers, having racked up 44 touchdowns and 37 extra points for 301 points. Stan Magdziak, this time acting as "The Toe," booted 35 out of 41 kicks between the uprights.

Outstanding Frosh Gridders Help Form Fine '47 Record

By Tommy Joynes

Of the 44 touchdowns scored by the Big Green during the just-finished campaign, nine of them were made by freshman gridders, who help compose one of the finest groups of beginners ever to don the war paint, not excluding the "Fabulous Freshmen" crop of 1939.

Thirty-three new aspirants were in the fold when Indian Coach R. N. (Rube) McCray called his flock together at the summer's end, and all have shown their worth either in varsity or junior varsity games, or in weekly scrimmage sessions, which depend so heavily upon the work of the first-year men.

Second-string End Vito Ragazzo, 195-pound six-two freshman from Aftex, Ky., proved most valuable of the newcomers, taking in six touchdown passes to lead the squad in that department. His outstanding play, which included defensive work as well as pass receiving, brought him "Freshman of the Week" honors after the Wake Forest game.

Vito Scores Often

Vito took in one in the Boston University encounter, scored again when the Tribe toppled Wake Forest, caught two in the VMI hair-raiser, and accepted another pair of pitches to contribute 12 points to last week's win over Richmond.

Reserve Wingback Magdziak, younger brother brought in by Stan, (who graduates in June), from Passaic, N. J., didn't see much varsity action until the Washington and Lee affair in Roanoke. Regular Wingback Henry Blanc was out with a cold that day, and Ed took over as understudy to Herb Poplinger, who filled Blanc's shoes.

The Roanoke people got a good show from little Magdziak (195 pounds) that day; he went into pay territory twice—once from the 25 and again from the five. He also took in a touchdown pass from his brother, but a backfield-in-motion penalty forced him to return it.

Howren Comes Through

The other freshman contribution to Tribe scoring was by Dashing Don Howren, who raced to the end zone from the 30 in the Citadel meet. The 180-pound tailback from Richmond was a key man in the jayvee games all year, but constant injuries kept him on the sidelines for most of the big battles.

Junior Varsity contests this season were headlined by freshman performances, since practically the entire "B" team was formed of new arrivals. Next year, however, the freshman rule, (which allows frosh to compete in freshman football games only) comes back into effect. Therefore, all those who were around for the '47 wars will have to play varsity ball in '48, or not play at all.

Other Players

Other than Ragazzo, Magdziak and Howren, freshman gridders with the Indians this fall were:

Ends, James Smith, Hillsman Wilson, Herb McReynolds, Ed Miluskewicz and Charles Kiser; tackles, Clint Sayre, John Sieber, Doug McLeod, Charles Fox and Christian Kroll; guards, John Kirk, Ted Gehlmann, John Dawkins, Nick McMahon, John Schwarzmann, Bobby Bowie and Charles Berger; centers Bob Finn, Mor-daunt Jones and Roy Caywood.

Backs, Joe Mark, Russell Kremer, John Davis, John Vollmer, Bill Grady, Gene Links, Harry Hilling, Bob Hendrich, and Al Skultety.

Of these, Wilson, Sayre, Kirk, Gehlmann, Mark, Links and Hilling saw varsity-game duty, but all were vital equipment in the molding of the Big Green Conference champs. And they'll be on hand to provide opposition for the Indians as they drill for the Dixie Bowl encounter of Jan. 1.

Dr. Miller Dooms Spiders To Defeat

"The Thanksgiving game won't be a game, it will be a crusade. We shall go forward armed with tomahawks and D.D.T. guns," shouted Dr. James W. Miller, professor of philosophy, at the final pep rally of the season last Tuesday, in his speech in which he doomed the Richmond Spiders to defeat.

While the upperclassmen gathered at the Wren Building, the freshmen, circled the campus carrying oil torches. "Freshmen! Freshmen! Come out, Freshmen!" was their official cry. After several cheers and songs, Dr. Miller spoke. "About 50 miles from here there is a place called the University of Richmond. There is a thing peculiar to this place. Instead of admitting people, they have a school full of spiders. And what do you find at the girl's school across the way? Black Widows!"

The cheerleaders led the way to the bonfire on the baseball field where, suspended between two poles on a wire, were the burning letters "Beat Richmond".

There were more cheers around the fire and the rally ended with the traditional snake dance leading through Monroe Hall and the Capitol Restaurant.

"... But gee, Fellows, he's a legacy from the University of Virginia!"

Canterbury Club

Dr. Andrew C. Haigh, associate professor of fine arts, will be the guest for the evening at the Sunday night supper meeting of the Canterbury club to be held at 6 p. m. in Bruton Parish house.

Last week the Canterbury club printed the first issue of its newspaper, Canterbury Tales. Herbert Philips, editor-in-chief, stated that the paper will "endeavor to further the policies of the club by publicizing social functions, worship services, social service opportunities and by publishing articles of interest to churchmen." The paper will be published once every two weeks.

Westminster Fellowship

The Westminster Fellowship of the Williamsburg Presbyterian church will hold its regular Sunday evening supper on Sunday, Dec. 7, at 6 p. m. in the social room of the church.

Following the supper, a discussion of "How to Listen to a Sermon" will be presented.

Newman Club

On Sunday, Dec. 7, there will be a Communion breakfast at the Iron Bound Inn immediately following the 9:30 a. m. mass.

There was a Newman club discussion at 7 p. m. Sunday, Nov. 30, in the Dodge room of Phi Beta Kappa hall.

Balfour-Hillel Club

A hayride and Chanukah party highlight the program of the Balfour-Hillel club for the month of December.

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 28, the second in a series of meetings sponsored by the Newport News lodge of B'nai B'rith was held. Dr. George J. Ryan, professor of ancient languages at the College, discussed the influence of the Greek and Hebrew civilizations on the western world. Two films were also shown at the meeting.

Mr. Harry Nachman, president of the Newport News lodge, spoke briefly of his lodge's interest in the Hillel club at William and introduced several officers of his lodge.

The next meeting of the club is scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 9, at 7:30 p. m. in the Baptist Student Center.

Wesley Foundation

R. E. Caudle, assistant treasurer and secretary of the Peninsula Bank and Trust Co., will speak at a Wesley Foundation meeting on Friday, Dec. 7, at 6:45 p. m.

A group of Wesleyans will attend a regional Methodist Youth conference at Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg on Dec. 6 and 7. Anyone desiring to go may contact Robert Burt at the Wesley Foundation office.

Harvey Wilkinson To Open Forum

J. Harvey Wilkinson will open this year's series of business forums with a lecture tomorrow at 4 p. m. in Rogers 212. Wilkinson is a vice-president of the State Planters' Bank and Trust Company, of Richmond.

This forum was started last year under the direction of Dr. Charles F. Marsh, head of the department of business administration. Dr. Marsh said that the plan is for representative business leaders to speak about their respective fields of work. They will discuss their daily responsibilities and the practical experience and academic training they consider helpful preparation. They will also answer any questions which the students may present.

Dr. Marsh announced that the next speaker will be W. B. Tittsworth, of the Baltimore office of Haskins and Sells, a large accounting firm. He will address a joint meeting of the forum and the accounting Club on Thursday, Dec. 11, in the east living room of Barrett Hall.

Lack Of Interest In Large Dances, Macken Charges

"The trouble with the present system of organizing large school dances is that the students themselves don't understand that it's up to them to pitch in and help," stated Bren Macken, chief of the President's Aides who sponsor the Homecoming and Mid-winter dances.

Despite the fact that the expenses of this year's Homecoming were no greater than formerly, only a $50 profit was netted as compared with the $700 taken in last year. This is attributed by the committee to the fact that many students entered without paying, rather than that too few attended. Moreover, only about ten people participated in the decoration of the gym, despite the fact that the aid of all students was solicited by announcements in the cafeteria and at the pep rallies.

At present, plans are under way for a Mid-winter dance scheduled for the end of February. The arrangements for this affair will be under the direction of the new dance committee, a re-organization of the old group recommended at a recent Student Assembly meeting. In addition to the president's aides, the committee will contain representatives of Pan-Hel, the Interfraternity Association, and several campus interest groups.

No band has been chosen as yet for the Mid-winter dance, but a selection will be made before Christmas.

Dr. Pomfret Visits Princeton

Dr. John E. Pomfret, president of the college, is spending this week attending meetings of the Phi Beta Kappa Senate in Princeton and the Liberal Arts Board of the University of Pennsylvania. While he is in Philadelphia he will represent the College at the 200th anniversary of the founding of the St. Andrew's Society.

Dr. Edgar Foltin

Foltin Addresses Chapel Audience

"Thanksgiving is a festival for the humble, for those who think with me that all we have received is a gift," declared Dr. Edgar M. Foltin, head of the psychology department, at the Thanksgiving chapel service last Wednesday evening.

He urged his listeners to give thanks for their parents, friends and the many friends, never seen, who provide beauty and enjoyment in art, music, literature and entertainment. "One should be thankful for the beauty all around, the trees, the flowers, a cat that purrs, apple pie, a song shared, encouragement. These are the things to be thankful for if you look at life this way. It is not just gratitude for a little item here and there, but a gratitude that embraces all," Dr. Foltin explained.

In conclusion, Dr. Foltin declared, "There are lasting things we all have, God's love, God's faith and God's hope. If we have even a glimpse of these, nothing else matters, for if we have them we have all. If we are rich beyond measure, let us give thanks beyond measure."

Tamiment Institute To Award Prizes For Best Essays

A first prize of $1,000, with 13 additional awards amounting to $2,000, will be distributed to college students by the Tamiment Social and Economic Institute in New York for the best 5,000-to-6,000-word essay on "An American Program for World Peace in the Present Crisis," submitted to its second annual contest. The closing date is Apr. 23, 1948.

Contestants may submit only one essay, and the contest is open to all undergraduate college students in recognized colleges of the United States. Manuscripts must be typed and double-spaced.

According to Louis Waldman, chairman of the Institute's essay committee, the purpose of the ward is "to stimulate college students to constructive thought on matters of social and economic importance. College students must realize the necessity of having a point of view, and of making that point of view a vital force as alert members of the public. The response to the initial contest is proof that today's student is strongly concerned with social and economic questions, and has a valuable contribution to make to the study of current trends and events."

Completed manuscripts may be mailed to Tamiment Institute Contest, 7 E. 15th St., New York 3, N. Y. No manuscripts will be returned unless accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Miss Blanche Duffy Demonstrates The "South American Way" to Her Dance Class
Fifty William and Mary Students Receive Instruction In Samba, Rhumba And Tango

'You've Just Got To Ooze Into It,' Miss Duffy Tells Samba Students

Anyone who happens to be around the Great Hall between 7 and 8:30 p. m. on Thursdays will probably hear the tantalizing rhythms of Xavier Cugat or the like. No, it's not a college dance, but the popular Latin American dance class conducted by Miss Blanche Duffy.

Miss Duffy explained the formation of the class by saying, "The students wanted it, and it was just a matter of getting it started." She said that movies, the radio and interest in South America had made people conscious of the steps and they were definitely more than a fad.

The topic first came up in conversation at an afternoon tea. When the German club showed its interest and desire to sponsor it, Miss Duffy organized the class.

Enthusiastic Reception

The idea was most enthusiastically received and Miss Duffy says there is now a waiting list. She added, "If the interest continues, and I can find time, we might give another series."

She explained that the aim of the course is to give some idea of the basic Latin American steps—rhumba, samba and tango. The steps themselves are simple, and the only difficulty is getting the rhythm. The fluid movements embodied in the dances require control of one's body and Miss Duffy remarked that, "You've just got to ooze into it."

Mental Steps First

She said that she taught these steps by making them clear mentally and then transferring them to the feet. She also remarked that besides teaching these particular steps, she wanted to make better dancers by making the girls conscious of "lightness" and the boys conscious of good leading.

Miss Duffy emphasized that throughout its history, dancing has been an expression of emotion. Today the ability to dance is also almost a necessity, and Miss Duffy said, "Dancing can't be picked up—it must be studied as a subject."

A representative of the C & O will be at the college Thursday, Dec. 4, from 10 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. in the second floor corridor, Wren building, to take pullman reservations for a special train which will leave Williamsburg at 1 p. m. on Saturday, Dec. 20, for Richmond and Washington.

Europe Requires Much Assistance, States Chadwick

John Chadwick, member of the British embassy in Washington, D. C., told members of the International Relations Club last week that "if America does decide to give relief to Europe, she must give enough to put the area well back on its feet."

Sixteen countries are concerned with the Marshall Plan, he said, and a report already has been submitted of their needs. American aid must guarantee taking care of all these needs instead of promising an inadequate loan.

Rehabilitation Important

Chadwick explained that the rehabilitation of Europe is important to America's own economic stability in the capitalistic world today. He emphasized the extent of British-American commercial dependence.

Some of the other countries in Europe are worse off than is Britain, he declared. His country's present economic program, he said, is an attempt to get on without dollar assistance. "We are doing a sound job," he continued. "And we do realize what our problems are."

Chadwick answered American criticism of the present British government, particularly in regard to her bureaucracy and the steps she has taken to solve the problems in her coal industry. He validly explained the necessity of the policies of the British government.

Problem of Food

One of Britain's specific problems, he said, is feeding the population. Many raw materials and one-half of the food used by the 40 million people of Britain must be imported. The main problems in the coal industry, according to Chadwick, are manpower and management. British mines are just emerging from a crude, small-scale system, and labor, and management are new to the modern methods.

Chadwick, a graduate of Cambridge University, has long been a member of the British civil service. He is now first secretary and personal assistant to the minister in charge of economic affairs, Sir John Magowan, of the British Embassy in Washington, D. C. He served in India from 1938 to 1945.

every person in the auditorium will be able to view the performances without the customary neck-craneing.

Sherman Designs Set

Meanwhile, Designer Roger Sherman, Technical Director Albert Haak, and their student crews were putting the trimmings on the Condomine living room, the setting of the play. Noel Coward's comedy calls for a number of weird sound effects and other technical tricks which will demand adroit handling and perfect timing. Sherman, Haak, and their charges have been working in close contact with the actors to insure smooth performances.

Phi Betes

tinued till 1861, at which time many of its members left the College to participate in the Civil War. For a long period, efforts made to locate Phi Beta Kappa's original records were futile; they were thought to be lost or destroyed. However, three of the original members, Walker and Landon Cabell and their cousin, Joseph, had taken the minutes to the Cabell home in Amherst County. There they remained until 1848, at which time Dr. Robert H. Cabell, son of Landon, presented them to the Virginia Historical Society. In 1893, the original minutes were returned to the College.

During the middle of the 19th century, the society did away with the secret phase of its ceremony. The change was gradual and constant and with it came the transition of Phi Beta Kappa into an honorary society.

Permanent Reorganization

Following the Civil War, the Alpha of Virginia held a single meeting on July 2, 1875. The next meeting was held on Sept. 12, 1893, at which time a meeting was called for Dec. 5, 1893, for the permanent reorganization of the chapter. This date was the 117th anniversary of the founding of the society and the bicentennial of the College.

In 1875, at the University of Vermont, the first women became members of Phi Beta Kappa. Their initiation in June of that year broke a precedent which had prevailed for almost a century.

Chapters United

Phi Beta Kappa chapters throughout the country first became united at a conference held on Sept. 5, 1883. At this time, a charter was drawn up and control of the individual chapters went to the National Council. In memory of the 50 founders of the Alpha chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, the United Chapters appropriated funds for a memorial hall to be constructed at William and Mary. This building was opened with a ceremony in November of 1926.

In recent years, many outstanding Americans have been honored with selection to Phi Beta Kappa. Members include Henry L. Stimson, James Branch Cabell, Christopher Morley, Carl Sandburg, George Santayana, Nicholas Murray Butler, William O. Douglas, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Walter Lippmann, and the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

VA Representatives Will Continue Visits

With the first on-the-campus checkup of subsistence payments ended, the Veterans Administration said today it will continue to send representatives to every school and college during the second week of each month of the current school year.

The VA said the monthly visits, which began in November, are designed to eliminate even isolated cases of delayed subsistence payments to veterans studying under the G. I. Bill.

VA representatives making the monthly surveys are prepared to expedite action to remove the cause of any delays in payments to students. The representative reports delayed payments directly to the office in which the account is kept. Office staffs expedite the claim until the account is paid.
